

AITD NATIONAL CONFERENCE

13-14 MAY 2015

AITD2015 is a unique opportunity to hear from learning and development experts and leaders in their field. Our keynote speakers from across the world will address the following hot topics:

Collaborative Learning

Dr Ben Betts will explore how to engage learners in being more 'social' in workplace learning, the value that can be created when social really works, and the realities of facilitating successful social learning experiences.

Innovation

Rob Wilkins will explain Big Data and the advantages of effective analytics provide organisations with crucial information and knowledge. L&D as a profession has the opportunity to develop the necessary skills to produce Learning Analytics that enable organisations with the capabilities to respond to competitive challenges.

Joyce Seitzinger will help you decide if badges are right for your organisation. She will explore: badge anatomy and design, how badges can support lifelong learning, and how badges can be used in communities, organisations and networks.

Trends and Tools

Craig Weiss' riveting presentation you will get the inside scoop of the LMS industry. Gain insight and knowledge that many vendors do not want you to know. Learn the feature sets you need today and what is coming in the next two years.

Patricks Crooks will help you embrace disruptive technologies. Most industries are getting disrupted by new technologies, and the L&D and education sector is no different. Rather than seeing this disruption as a threat, we will examine which technologies boost training and development outcomes and efficiency and the barriers to innovation.

Organisations of the future

Dr Anne Bartlett-Bragg explains how the nature of work is fundamentally changing. Collaboration is expected in activity-based workspaces, yet workplace learning relies on classroom sessions or eLearning programs with limited integration with work based activities. Explore the future of work and learning, technologies that support the future workplace and how to design a sustainable and effective learning approach.

Leadership

Dr Alastair Rylatt will explore ways to generate leadership engagement that inspires greater levels of commitment to learning within your business, organisation or industry. He will address how to hold managers and leaders to account for their standard of performance in learning, innovation and connection.

Also at AITD2015, to enhance your conference experience, Blair Rorani will demonstrate visual note taking. Hear case Studies from the Department of Defence and Coca-Cola Amatil. Panel Discussions include: Creating a Dynamic Learning Culture, The Manager's Role in Learning and Next Generation Skills. To view the Conference Program or to book visit aitd.com.au

POST CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

15 MAY 2015

Several AITD2015 keynote speakers are facilitating post-conference workshops in Sydney on Friday 15 May 2015. Workshop topics include social learning, instructional design, engaging learners and badges. Make the most of this professional development opportunity and spend the day immersed in an area of interest.

You do not have to be an AITD2015 conference delegate to attend a post conference workshop. However, discounts apply to AITD members and conference delegates, to book visit aitd.com.au

Dr Ben Betts - Building a social learning experience

Social learning expert Dr Ben Betts will introduce you to a method of developing social learning that harnesses existing content and technology, to take a more about social, curation-based approach to developing learning experiences.

Marc Ratcliffe - The Trainer's Cookbook: Recipes for Learning Engagement Success

Join Marc as he shares his recipes for learning success. In this highly interactive session, you will be provided with dozens of dynamic techniques that will make you the master chef of the training room!

Blair Rorani - Creative Instructional Design and Everybody Draw Now

Spend the morning learning how to build skills instead of presenting information and the afternoon learning how to capture, clarify and communicate ideas and information using pictures.

Joyce Seitzinger and Dr Bron Stuckey - BadgeLab at AITD

BadgeLab is a rich opportunity for learning and development specialists to explore badges. You will be able to advance your understanding through a project, its design, development and documentation throughout the day's targeted social activities and in the company of critical friends.

Conference & Training Venues

Melbourne - Sydney - Brisbane - Adelaide - Canberra - Perth - Hobart

Facility Management

Video Conferencing

Computer Rooms

Conference & Training

1300 008 710

www.karstens.com.au

info@karstens.com.au